

Attain Secures General Services Administration IT Schedule 70

Professional Services Company Expands Federal Market Opportunities with Government-wide Acquisition Contract

VIENNA, VA – July 19, 2010 – Attain, LLC, a leading public sector professional services company, today announced that the General Services Administration (GSA) has awarded Attain a Schedule 70 multiple award contract for information technology professional services.

Attain's five-year contract, effective July 12, 2010, enables Federal, state and local government agencies to have convenient, direct access to Attain's IT professional services through a streamlined procurement process. Under its Schedule 70 contract, Attain's seasoned consultants will provide information technology services including, but not limited to, strategic IT planning, systems implementation, IT infrastructure support, applications management and maintenance, business process outsourcing, independent verification and validation, and systems security services.

"X," said Greg Baroni, chairman and chief executive officer of Attain. "We are pleased to be able to fortify our relationship with new and existing government clients through our Schedule 70 contract, providing the caliber of professional IT services needed to address critical business challenges and improve efficiency and performance."

As an approved government vendor under GSA's preferred procurement vehicle for IT hardware, software and services, Attain affirms its commitment to driving real, breakthrough results to help our government clients solve their most critical and complex issues and achieve their missions.
