

Attain Wins $3.0 Million Army LMP Contract

Professional Services Company Continues Support of Army Logistics Modernization Program

VIENNA, VA – August 10, 2010 – Attain, LLC, a leading public sector professional services company, today announced that it has won a $3.0 million prime contract to support the implementation of the Department of the Army’s Logistics Modernization Program (LMP) at the Tank-Automotive and Armaments Command (TACOM), Anniston Army Depot (ANAD) in Anniston, Alabama.

The goal of the Logistics Modernization Program is to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of the Army’s supply chain management process by implementing an Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) system across the Department. The program aims to streamline the maintenance, repair and overhaul (MRO), planning, finance, acquisition and delivery of weapon systems, spare parts, services and materiel to the warfighter. When the program is fully implemented, it will support more than 17,000 users in more than 1,000 Army locations.

As the prime contractor supporting the LMP deployment at ANAD, Attain will work hand-in-hand with Army personnel to provide ERP advisory and training services, including on-demand demonstrations and exercises, workshops and coaching. With a legacy of ERP expertise, Attain consultants will use proven implementation best practices to deliver LMP success at Anniston. The fifteen-month contract, effective August 16, 2010, includes a six-month base and three three-month options.

“We are pleased at the opportunity to continue our support of this critical program that helps to better meet the needs of the warfighter in the field and achieve the Army mission,” said Richard Roberts, president of Attain Federal Services. “As the Logistics Modernization Program is rolled out to various Army sites, Attain’s ongoing involvement is a testament to the strength of our technical expertise and depth of the customer knowledge our people deliver.”

Attain has provided support services including training, data analysis and migration, and independent verification and validation services to the LMP Program Office since 2000.
