

Attain Wins Application Development Contract with EPA

Attain, LLC to support EPA mission to monitor the health of the nation's water system

McLean, VA – June 24, 2015 – Attain, LLC, a leading management, technology and strategy consulting firm, today announced that the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Office of Water (OW) and the Chesapeake Bay Program Office (CBPO) awarded the firm its OW and CBPO Information Technology Portfolio Support Services contract.

Under this contract, Attain will provide application development services to enable the mission of the EPA Office of Water and assist in monitoring the overall health of our nation's water system. The contract also includes infrastructure and application services to help the Chesapeake Bay Program Office provide a collaborative data source for the Chesapeake Bay Program. The Bay Program represents a regional partnership that has coordinated the restoration of the Chesapeake Bay and its watershed since 1983.

"We are proud to support the vitally important missions of EPA Office of Water and the Chesapeake Bay Program Office," said Manish Agarwal, president of Federal Services at Attain. "The portfolio of applications we will support not only allows EPA to ensure drinking water is safe, but enables both the Office of Water and CBPO to more effectively restore and maintain oceans, watersheds, and their aquatic ecosystems to protect human health, support economic and recreational activities, and provide a healthy habitat for fish, plants, and wildlife," said Agarwal.

Attain's application development services will leverage the firm's domain expertise serving the scientific and research communities, as well as its deep cloud computing experience, and apply significant capabilities in Geospatial Information System (GIS) development and scientific water modeling.

"Our support of EPA Office of Water and CBPO continues Attain's tradition of bringing leading edge technologies such as cloud computing together with an agile approach to create a framework for increased value and assured mission success," said Attain Chairman and CEO Greg Baroni.
